“ Jonathon was one of the few friends I've ever had. We hadn't seen each other in person for years, but he would send a text out of the blue a few times a month and make me laugh. He always recommended the BEST anime and games. I think every interaction I ever had with him put a smile on my face. It still hasn't fully sunk in that he's gone. I still expect that random funny text. I will miss him. I'm grateful for having known him and I'm especially grateful that I've become friends with his wife too.

“ I worked with Johnathan at Walmart as well as Rural King and I remember when we were talking about his middle name but he would never tell me. He said I would never ever be able to guess and the first off the wall name I picked was right and we both lost it because I just picked a name that was different but I won't say it lol you will truly be missed Johnathan I can't believe how much fight a man could have and a lot of people could learn from you on how to never give up.

“ I've known Jonathon for a very long time. He was part of my family for a little while, and I loved him like he was my son. My daughter and I always stopped to talk to him when he worked at Walmart, and he was so proud when he got promoted. He was such a sweet and special kid and man. I thought about him often when I moved away, and am so sad that he went thru so much in his short life, but he knew that I loved him and always will! Rest easy, Jonathon. I love you. <3
