Her favorite pastimes included golfing, bowling, and playing cards with family and friends. Throughout her life, she took great joy in traveling. Always delighted to go on family vacations to Jamaica, Florida, and New Orleans, as well as her first and second honeymoon to Montreal.

In the later years of her life, she loved spending time with her dear friend Mike Peters, as well as enjoying numerous old and new friendships and the faithful companionship of her chocolate lab, Daisy.

Debbie was a devoted wife and mother; she considered her children to be the most important part of her life and was proud to support her family through both their triumphs and difficulties.
