

Jordan Marcus Sell

December 30, 1981 - February 16, 2013

Jordan Marcus Sell, 31, of Carbondale, IL, passed away Saturday, February 16, 2013. He was born in Mattoon, IL, on December 30, 1981, to Jaime and Lue Ann Sell. \r\n\r\nHe is survived by his parents, aunts Tammy Darnell (Lowell) of Rantoul, IL, Cristi Cook (Tom) of Falls Church, VA, and Connie Geilman, of Mattoon, IL. Also surviving are numerous cousins and friends whom Jordan was close to.\r\n\r\nJordan was preceded in death by grandparents, Dale and Vivian Sell, of Mattoon, IL, and George and Verna Lue Wakefield, also of Mattoon, IL.\r\n\r\nJordan was a graduate of Mattoon High School and Lake Land Community College and attended Southern Illinois University Carbondale pursuing a degree in photography.\r\n\r\nFriends and family remember Jordan as a humble, respectful, and polite person who had an insatiable curiosity for life, loved to help others, and always put everyone else first. Jordan enjoyed spending most of his time outdoors, building and fixing numerous things, and creating artwork in many mediums, including photography, sketching, and sculpting. He touched all of our hearts with his quick-wit, great sense of humor, and memorable laugh. He was a bright light in all of our lives and his presence will be forever missed.\r\n\r\nA private service was held at Dodge-Grove Cemetery.\r\n\r\nJordan was a compassionate, tender-hearted animal lover and memorials and donations in honor may be left to the Coles County Animal Shelter or a charity of the donor's choice.\r\n

“ I still think about Jordan often....I tried tracking him down after I moved to Georgia but had zero luck in obtaining contact information. We were friends for a long time - I sat directly behind him in 6th grade! He held my hand during my 2nd ever tattoo session and we worked together at Showplace 8 before I relocated. I am quite sure that I will miss him forever.

And both myself and my husband (Chris Cloutier) still think of him often. I doubt his memory will ever fade...

“ Jordan was such a good friend of mine. Sadly, over the last few years, we fell out of touch, but I thought about him often. I have known Jordan since I was 16 and working at the Mattoon theater. A decade of my life is filled with memories of Jordan, from late nights playing Halo, to one very late night where he tried to install a cd player in my crappy Mazda (it didn't work out so well), to nights out in Carbondale with friends, laughter and good times. My most favorite times with Jordan, though, were when we would spend HOURS in the darkroom going through our negatives and helping each other out with "cropping through the viewfinder" and printing. He always told me that if we could combine his ability behind the camera with my ability printing, "we'd be the greatest photographer this world had ever seen". I wish that we had remained close after I moved out here to Colorado. He was such an amazing person that truly cared about the people in his life. He will be missed, every day.

“ I still have the picture of the dinosaur he drew when I thought he was too young to evidence artistic talent. I made a cloth frame for it; it is still in my sewing room.
